GUILD HALL OF EVANGELICAL CHURCH HERE IS COMPLETED; REFLECTS CREDIT ON WORKERS

As a direct result of hard work and planning by Mrs. William Laven and Mrs. J. S. Lancaster, present and past presidents of the Central Evangelical Church Guild, and the members who worked with them, the Guild hall is an accomplished fact. Erected at an approximate cost of $3000, the building 34866 feet, is divided into the main room, 34850, and a kitchen and store room, 16000. The charming, restful color scheme of a silvery gray is carried out in the walls and wicker furniture. Portable screens are used to convert the exceedingly cheerful hall into class rooms for the primary department of the Sunday school. Each class room has a beautiful rug and a table which holds fresh flowers each Sunday. Over one hundred chairs are filled each Sunday with eager little ones who deeply appreciate their new class rooms. The screens also serve to divide the hall into cozy rooms in which the thirty or more members of the guild may hold their regular and committee meetings. While the building was planned originally for the primary department, it will be available at all times for various social events in connection with church work. The Christian Endeavor monthly social will be held here, as will the men's and guild's dinners. Electric outlets have been installed for sewing machines, and the building is fully equipped for radio. A roomy space above the entrance provides for the installation of a cinema outfit.
